

Hackathon Day 4

In day 4 I've created the core components for my furniture marketplace builder

By Syeda Muntaha shah

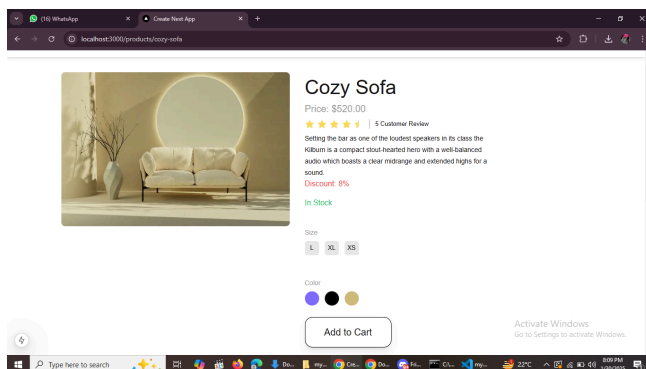

This is my ProductListing component where all my products showcase, and all this products fetched from sanity studio

Core Components !

I have created four core components in my project:

1. ProductListing Component – This component displays the list of products, as shown above.
2. ProductDetail Component – This component presents detailed information about a product. I have implemented a dynamic route for the product detail page, allowing users to click on a product and be redirected to its respective detail page dynamically.
3. Cart Component – This is the main component for managing the shopping cart. On the product detail page, I have added an "Add to Cart" button, which allows users to add products to their cart. Additionally, I have implemented functionality that enables users to easily increase (+) or decrease (-) item quantities in the cart. A "Proceed to Checkout" button has also been added, which redirects users dynamically to the checkout page when clicked.
4. Checkout Component – This component opens the checkout page, where users can fill out the billing form and place their order. I have also integrated form validation to ensure accurate and complete user input.
